

SHRINK FILM

PRODUCT GUIDE

Surepak stock white shrink film to suit every application. With our extensive range of sizes and high quality we're able to provide white shrink film to suit your needs.

Whether it is protecting your vessel from damage against the elements or meeting quarantine standards for machinery, Surepak has you covered!

What is shrink film used for?

Shrink film is commonly used to protect boats or large items while in storage. It is also used to protect large products whilst in transport.

Why white?

Our shrink film has been specially made with the marine and mining industries in mind. It has been coloured white to reflect the heat that can be generated inside.

UV Treated

UV treatment allows for prolonged storage outside.
